Unique Selling Points

Gameplay

We want offer a truly addictive game with single player story. Unlike most cryptocurrency games that focus on the grinding economy without which they are not even games.

Replayability

It is a game without a clear ending after completing all missions - you can easily play endlessly.

Token / NFT

Buying and exchanging NFT symbolizing various items in the game world.

Retro nostalgia

The game is made in the very popular style of pixel art JRPG games.

Game world

→ The world we present is our own cyberpunk world. It's an alternative version of the '80s in which computerization has developed to a level that has not yet been reached in the real world.

→ It includes pulsating cities filled with corporations, hackers and street dwellers, as well as desert spaces known as badlands, inhabited by nomads.

→ Players can compete with each other in multiplayer arenas or meet each other in nightclubs

→ Maps include cities, docks, city canals, sunken city, desert badlands

Playability

Tokenomy

Tokenomics is integrated into the gameplay, allowing players to purchase in-game items using tokens or NFTs. This allows them to acquire unique items such as housing, vehicles, or rare items that enhance the in-game experience. NFTs will mirror in-game items, allowing players to own and trade them with other players.

Gameplay

Players interact with NPCs, complete quests, collect items, and make decisions that influence the development of the plot.

Additionally, special multiplayer zones allow for arena competition, trading, and meetings.

Exploration

Players traverse pulsating, neon cities filled with corporations, hackers, and cybernetic implants, as well as desolate, dangerous badlands inhabited by nomads. You will be able to drive a car, motorcycle, boat or use public transport.

Audience

It is a game designed to be accessible to everyone, with minimal hardware requirements. A game that can be played directly in your web browser - so anyone can join the adventure in very different circumstances.
